

A MACHINE GUN BIDDY

A HEN THAT SMASHED ALL RECORDS IN RAPID LAYING OF EGGS

This is the story (not a fairy story) of the hen that laid the numerous eggs. The best of this story is that it is absolutely true. W. L. Kemp, who recently moved to Glendale, purchasing the T. E. Layton property at 1345 East Colorado, wishing to take a fall out of old Mr. Hi C. L., invested in a few White Leghorn hens, for which he soon developed a genuine affection, so faithful were they to every obligation. What was his sorrow to find on Saturday morning that one of these faithful servants was high unto death. She staggered about the pen and her eyes were closed to things of earth. A neighbor told him to make a solution of warm water and coal oil, then plunge her head in it. This he did, then sadly left her to her fate. Some time later, while he was still sorrowing over the untimely end of this faithful servant, there came to his ears the sound of wild ecstatic cackling, a regular "staccato in F." Hurrying to the poultry pen to learn the cause of this joyous burst of harmony, he found the hen he had imagined already a cold, cold corpse careering wildly around in her confined quarters, while near her lay three perfect eggs. This evidently was no installment plan hen, but a cash in advance purveyor. All trades refused. Not even an automobile would be considered, for triple action hens are mighty scarce.

SOUTHLAND AGAIN LURES THE WOODS

H. W. Wood and wife, who formerly lived at 545 West Elk Avenue, where Mr. Wood built up a very lucrative poultry and small fruit business on four small lots, which he traded for property at Atascadero, recently returned to California, having traded off the northern property. They are now at Ontario, both working in the Hot Point factory, but Mr. Wood is seriously inclined to the poultry business and may yet return to Glendale.

PATRICIA ECKEL PRIZE WINNER

The four-months-old girl baby that won the prize last Friday at the Spring Festival was a caller at the Evening News office Saturday, with her mother and grandmother. She is indeed a solid bunch of dainty sweetness. The mother, a slip of a girl, is living at 120A North Orange street and is the wife of Capt. Clarence L. Eckel, now in Coblenz, Germany. He has been across the seas nearly a year, hence has never seen his little one. The young wife is ardently longing for his early return.

TWIN BOYS

Twin boys born at Thornycroft Sunday, May 18, 1919, have come to enliven the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jones, who have been temporarily residing with Mrs. Jones' parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Norton, at 801 West Wilson Avenue, while their new home at the corner of California and Cedar Street was building. The house is now about ready to move into.

ALL WILL BOW KNEE

THE DAY IS COMING WHEN ALL WILL SEE CHRIST SAYS PASTOR BEDDOE

Every man, woman and child in the world, whether rich or poor, king or slave, Christian or heathen, will one day see Christ and bow the knee before Him, according to Pastor B. E. Beddoe, who spoke at the Glendale Seventh-Day Adventist Church, Wilson Avenue and Isabel Street, at the regular service last Saturday morning. His subject was, "We Would See Jesus," and his text Philipians 2:8-11, "And being found in fashion as a man He (Christ) humbled Himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. Wherefore God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

"When I speak of seeing Jesus, I do not refer to seeing Him by faith, but seeing Him with the physical eyes," said Mr. Beddoe. "The day is coming when every eye shall see Him, as we are told in Matthew 24:30 and Revelation 1:7. All who lived before the flood and every soul who has lived

MISS FANNIE CULLINGWORTH GUEST OF HONOR AT PRE-NUP TIAL FUNCTION

Miss Fannie Cullingworth, of 1023 Boynton Street, was guest of honor at a pretty party and shower given by Misses Carol and Lois Duncan, at their home on San Fernando Road Saturday evening, at which about 25 young women were entertained. The game of "hearts" played with cubes bearing on the six faces the letters forming that word, was the chief diversion of the evening, the first and second prizes going to Misses Phoebe Adams and Dorothy Hobbs, who promptly turned them over to Miss Cullingworth. Then there was a parcel post delivery at which Miss Harriet Myers acted as postmistress. Every guest received a parcel, some marked butter, some eggs, some parcels looking fresh and clean, others in a state of great dilapidation. After the mail had all been distributed and the parcels opened and found to contain needles, pins, darning cotton and a variety of notions, which were presented to the favored guest, Miss Cullingworth opened the big package which bore her name and which contained the miscellaneous shower of gifts from her friends.

Cecil Brunner roses were employed in carrying out the pink color scheme which featured the floral decoration of the living rooms and

SMALL BLAZE AT GLENDALE ELECTRIC

There was some excitement around the Glendale Electric Company early in the afternoon Saturday when a conflagration was started by the explosion of a gasoline torch which was being used by a salesman for some unknown purpose, probably on a soldering job. The explosion threw the gasoline over the boxes of goods stored on the shelves and the situation seemed critical for a few minutes. Miss Ruth Wilson, who was in charge of the office, threw a bucket of water over the burning stock and with the help of the salesman extinguished the fire. In the meantime the engines and firemen of the Fire Department, in response to a call which misdirected them, had gone to the Newton Electric Company. On learning their mistake they came back but by the time they reached the station the fire was out. E. R. Naudain, proprietor of the Glendale Electric Company, was away from the store at the time superintending a job.

The damage from the smoking of the walls, tarnishing of fixtures, etc., will amount to about $100.

FINALLY AT REST

MRS. ELMER J. JACKSON FALLS ASLEEP AFTER MONTHS OF SUFFERING

After a long, brave fight for life, in which she was constantly buoyed up by a husband's loving care and toward the last by a mother's devoted nursing, Mrs. Elmer J. Jackson gave up the struggle, and at 3 o'clock this morning quietly fell asleep.

Mr. Jackson and the mother of the deceased, Mrs. Anna Holcomb, will start Wednesday, with the body of their loved one, on the long, sad journey back to Bardolph, McDonough County, Illinois, where, next Sunday, in the old M. E. Church where she was long an honored member, the funeral services will be held. Gertrude Holcomb was born near Bardolph, in August, 1885. When but a young girl she gave her heart and life to the Master and united with the M. E. Church in Bardolph. She became an eager and faithful teacher in the Sunday School, having charge of a class of boys. She continued as their teacher until her health failed three years ago, when all had grown to young manhood and nearly all of them served their country in the world war.

In October, 1906, she was married to Elmer J. Jackson, a young business man of Bardolph, and their home life was ideal. Nearly three years ago her health failed and last October it was found she was suffering from Bright's disease. The journey to California was made as a last desperate chance to save her life, but all to no avail. It was seen months ago that she was doomed, and six weeks ago her mother came out from Bardolph to be with her in the last sad days. She passed away in perfect peace this morning in the home at 209 East Palmer Avenue.

The bereaved husband has the heartfelt sympathy of the many friends and business associates gained during the brief residence in Glendale.

N-C 3 STILL UNFOUND

NO TRACE DISCOVERED OF MISSING PLANE, CARRYING COMMANDER TOWERS, LAST HEARD FROM SATURDAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, May 19.—The navy officials announced today that seaplane N-C 4 had been ordered to join in the search for the N-C 3, carrying Commander Towers, which has not been heard from since early Saturday. This means the temporary abandonment of the attempt to finish the flight across the Atlantic.

Horta, Azores, May 19.—After an all-night search by warships combing the seas for the N-C 3, it is reported that no trace of the missing plane has been found. Officials believe the craft is still afloat, lost in the fog. However, there is openly expressed anxiety over its safety. It is believed that if it is still floating, the plane has been drenched by the seas and that probably rations and water are running low, if they are not absolutely exhausted.

The N-C 1 cannot resume the trip, although the crew suffered little during their three hours' drift on the surface of the sea.

Washington, May 19.—Admiral Jackson cabled the navy late this afternoon that as investigation showed that the N-C 4 could not be of great assistance in searching for the N-C 3 and Commander Towers, that plane had been ordered to resume its trans-Atlantic flight. It was stated that the N-C 4 would proceed from Horta to Ponta Delgada and then to Lisbon as soon as the weather would permit.

FEARS FOR HARRY HAWKER

SHOULD HAVE REACHED ENGLAND THIS MORNING, IF HIS FLIGHT FROM NEWFOUNDLAND WAS SUCCESSFUL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

London, May 19.—The closest watch is being kept for Harry Hawker, the Australian aviator, who left Newfoundland yesterday in an attempt to make a direct flight in Sopwith single-engined biplane to England. If the flight is successful, he is expected to arrive this morning. If unsuccessful, he will probably never be heard of. Hawker and his companion, Lieutenant Commander Grieve, dropped all safety appliances before leaving, so their plane would sink if it fell.

London, May 19.—At 3:30 this afternoon the British air ministry had not received any word from Harry Hawker, the trans-Atlantic Australian flyer. Many rumors were current saying he had been sighted, but they were not verified. Anxiety is increasing.

SIXTY-SIXTH CONGRESS CONVENES

ORGANIZED WITH REPUBLICANS IN APPARENT CONTROL. WILL HEAR PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TOMORROW

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, May 19.—The Sixty-sixth Congress convened promptly at noon, Clerk South Trimble calling the House to order, and Vice President Marshall convening the Senate. Strange faces among the members and also among the attaches gave striking evidence of a change to Republican control.

Immediately after the President's call for the session had been read, new members were sworn in.

The session promises to be the most momentous in history. Representative Sabbath announced that he would introduce a resolution for the repeal of war-time prohibition. That means that a fight is promised. Other issues, aside from the ratification of the peace treaty, will be suffrage, merchant marine, wire and railroad control. A vast number of bills have been prepared. Among them are measures for the repeal of luxury taxes; the establishment of a budget system; numerous anti-Bolshevik measures aimed at the radicals; the regulation of the packing industry; investigation of the cost of living; a measure giving all government land to the state wherein the land is located.

Congress adjourned as soon as the organization was completed. It will probably hear the President's message tomorrow.

AUSTRIANS AND GERMANS AT ODDS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

St. Germain, May 19.—Austrian delegates exchanged credentials with the Allies at the Pavilion of Henry IV. this afternoon. The ceremony lasted two minutes and Jules Cambon presided. German Foreign Minister Brockdorff-Rantzau returned to Versailles from Spa, and the remainder of the German delegation returned from Berlin. The Austrians have reiterated their refusal to confer with the German delegation.

WAR BETWEEN RUSSIA AND RUMANIA

WINNIPEG STRIKE CONTINUES

Winnipeg, May 19.—The general labor strike continues. It is understood that city officials and employers are working on a proposal for ending the strike which will be submitted to strike leaders.

ONE GREAT GAME

NO SCIENTIFIC PLAYING, BUT CERTAINLY LOTS OF FUN

There was one great game of baseball on the High School grounds Saturday afternoon. The contest was to be between the Elks' team and Knights of Columbus Club, but Manager Henry of the latter was disappointed at the last moment when none of his players showed up and volunteers were called for to fill the ranks. Hence the name "Yannigans" bestowed on them by Mr. Henry. The line-up, when the play began, was as follows:

YANNIGANS
L. Crandall.....p.....Oliver Clark
Geo. Hastings.....c.....M. Doll
Robt. Jensen.....1b.....W. Lee
C. C. Horton.....2b.....C. Reed
E. Thomas.....3b.....H. V. Henry
Jesse Smith.....ss.....R. Tammell
Joe Fortunato.....rf.....R. Doll
Harry Moore.....cf.....Hughes
Vernon Carr.....lf.....Bob Dewar
Umpires—C. W. Hughes and H. E. White.

Lee and Clark changed about from first base to pitcher occasionally and Henry and Doll between catcher and third base. While some blunders were made there was some really creditable playing. It might be said right here that this was but a practice game. Henry says that when he can get his regular line-up on the field he will show the Elks how baseball is played. There was no regular scorer present, so the casualty figures are somewhat hazy, in fact, as badly mixed up as were those of the overseas forces of the American army. The Elks scored thirty times or more and the Yannigans 7 or 8. Two-baggers and three-baggers were plentiful and there was an occasional strikeout. There was plenty of fun, as all was good-natured on both sides. "But 'twas a famous victory."

FATHER AND SON

Howard Rockhold, who returned from service overseas a short time ago, in company with his friend, Hawthorn Tilton, has gone to work in the Arroyo Seco under the forest ranger.

When asked about the effect war had upon him his mother said it had sobered and made a man of him, that all his kiddish ways are gone but, while it has been a trying experience, it has not hurt him. He himself told her that the men didn't realize what the war had done to them until they were relieved from front line service about three days before the armistice was signed and sent back about 20 miles to Sedan. They were completely exhausted from working sixteen hours a day, but did not realize the change it had wrought in them until they looked into snapping bright eyes and smiling faces of the men of the replacement division and then looked into the faces of the men in their own company and saw how haggard they were. The casualties of war could not fail to impress and age them. Quartered opposite Howard's company was a company of infantry of the 142d Division, which went into the Argonne 250 strong and came out with just fifty. Like other boys he has great praise for the Salvation Army and some of the other organizations but not for the Y. M. C. A. on account of the prices charged the soldiers.

Letters which Mrs. Rockhold has received from her husband state that the engineering force he is with is hurrying its work as fast as possible and he thinks in another month the work around Tours will be finished. He has asked for discharge and hopes it will be granted then. When his last letter was written, April 13th, it was snowing where he was. He says the boys are all very anxious to get home. When he was transferred it was to the Fifth Army of the Regulars which is being held longer than the special service men but he is with men who know him well and who wanted him to be with them.

GUESTS AT SIPLE RANCH

Mrs. Grace Taylor and Miss Clara Swales, of 332 Burchett Street, spent a week-end recently with Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Siple at their ranch at Beaumont. Seventeen other guests including Mr. and Mrs. Morehouse of Lomita Avenue, this city, were there. Saturday their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Staples, visited the ranch. The Siples usually entertain a big party of friends and relations over Sunday. It is very beautiful there now and their cherries are beginning to look inviting.

Mrs. Kelly, of Sierra Madre, who has been the guest of Mrs. L. W. Sinclair of 1226 East Lexington, went home Friday.

SERGEANT EMERY HOME

IS GLAD TO BE IN GLENDALE ONCE MORE, BUT DOES NOT REGRET EXPERIENCE

Sergeant Owen Emery arrived in Glendale last Thursday at 6 p. m. His parents met him in San Francisco and they all drove down in the auto. Owen was a member of Co. C, 316th Ammunition Train, 91st Division. He was in the Argonne fight from its beginning, September 26th, to October 11th, when his detachment was relieved and sent to a rest sector. For a time he commanded his company, the officers senior to him having been killed or disabled. On October 28th his company was sent as a part of a reinforcement for the French 7th Division operating in the Lys-Scheldt region, where the ground they fought over was crisscrossed with canals. On the march to this Flanders front Sergeant Emery's captain was sent away on detached service and he was in command of the company from then until after the armistice was signed, in fact, up to December 15th, about two months. Like the other boys, Owen was mighty glad to get back home again and into "cits," but he would not take anything for his experiences as a soldier in the army of humanity. He went through scenes of horror hardly to be imagined and many times escaped death seemingly by a miracle. He was warmly welcomed back by his law partner, Sol Rehart, and will resume business at once, in greatly enlarged quarters. Accompanying Sergeant Emery and his parents on the homeward trip was Clarence H. Smith, a cousin of Owen, who was with the 27th Engineers. He saw action all through the Argonne fight and along the Meuse. He went in as a private and worked up to master engineer, the highest office in his company. Clarence formerly lived in Glendale graduating from the High School in 1910. The family then moved to Berkeley and he entered the University of California, from which he graduated in 1915, then sought work in Nevada, making good from the start. He will resume work in his profession, and may go to China, as he has had a fine offer from that country. His parents, H. B. Smith, and wife, will be down from Berkeley the last of the week, to spend a few days in Glendale.

DR. DUNGAN 82 YEARS YOUNG

Dr. D. R. Dungan, of 329 East Lomita avenue, returned home one day last week from a visit with his son, Rev. Bert Dungan, who is pastor of the Christian Church in San Bernardino. And since his return home he has celebrated his 82d birthday anniversary. Dr. Dungan was a minister of the gospel for more than 60 years. In his early days his work was in the then frontier state of Nebraska, where he would ride 50 miles or more some days on his wiry mustang, to carry the gospel to remote settlements. In his riper years he served on the faculties of Christian colleges, notably Drake University, of which he was president for a number of years. The iron constitution built up by years of out-door work and right living enabled him to recover from the shock of a broken hip suffered in a voyage to Honolulu five years ago.

AN UNLUCKY FRIDAY

Friday was not the lucky day of the baseball team of Glendale High for it lost in the league game played with the Alhambra team on the local field. It was a very close, hard-fought game, the score at the close standing 6 to 5 in favor of the visiting team. This victory gives Alhambra the league championship as it has won all of the five games played.

PASTOR CITES WORK FOR GOOD OF HEROES OF THE CHRIST AGE

The morning sermon of Rev. Clifford A. Cole in Central Christian Church, yesterday, was on the subject, "Peter and John Going to Prayer Meeting." He cited the fact that after the strenuous work of Pentecost day and evening when 3000 converts were made and baptized, these two tireless workers in the Master's cause were found going up to the temple at the hour of prayer, and they started early enough to allow them to stop on the way to perform a miracle that healed a man lame from his birth and saved his soul. The contrast was drawn between these two faithful followers of the Christ and modern Christians who

CENTENARY OF ODD FELLOWSHIP

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows, commemorating its one hundredth anniversary, takes comfort in statistics which show a truly marvelous growth in membership, in expenditures for relief and in tangible assets of one kind or another; but its vast usefulness has been brotherhood which is cultivated by Oddfellowship, and which feeds upon itself and grows by practice. It is only symbolized by the statement, for illustration, that $6,509,000 was expended for relief work in 1918, or that the present membership of the order in the United States is 2,230,231.

The great number of benefit paying fraternities of which the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is a pioneer type, give eloquent testimony to the power of an idea. In a perfect state of society, perhaps, there would be no need for men to organize, with friendship, love and truth as their motto, and formally to declare their purpose to visit the sick, relieve distress, bury the dead and educate the orphan. But men need the stimulus both of precept and example to preserve them in a proper relationship to duty, and these are furnished by the Odd Fellows and kindred fraternities. Practice in well-doing serves to demonstrate that it is, indeed, more blessed to give than to receive.

The great sums expended for relief of the brethren, their widows and orphans, the homes for the aged, orphanages for the care and education of the young, are in themselves worth while, as their immediate beneficiaries can testify, but it is pertinent to consider that the greatest benefit of all is conferred upon those who are permitted to share in these benevolent and unselfish enterprises. "A brother to relieve—how exquisite the bliss," sang Robert Burns, giving voice to this idea. The Independent Order of Odd Fellows, conceived in America by five men with the spirit of a similar adventure in England, has grown to its present proportions because unselfishness is contagious, and because, in their innermost hearts, men want to help their fellows and need only to be shown the way.—Exchange.

COST OF BUILDING

A writer in the Country Gentleman, who has been making a comparative study of the cost of farm buildings now and before the war, advises against a hasty conclusion as to building while labor and materials are high. The figures, he says, indicate that "the purchasing power of the farm has increased faster than have costs of construction." A silo, for example, costs a third more than in 1915, but the returns from a silo are more than an offset. Waiting for the price of lumber and other materials to come down is an indefinite proposition, and labor will not receive less unless the expenses of living recede. As building falls off on account of costs, rents advance, and those who build property to be rented must change calculations accordingly. An era of slack building is certainly undesirable for the mass of population. The stagnation may also be a mistake on the side of investment. The question is a relative one throughout. When so handled as to cause discomfort, an error, due to misapprehensions, is committed somewhere. A farmer hesitating to build a shed to protect his implements, whose cost also has largely advanced, would not be wise.

Congress can do much to improve the future situation in regard to the cost of building. Americans have been prodigal in regard to the waste of timber. The principles of forestry in this country are chiefly theoretical. Our wooded regions were once called inexhaustible. We know better now from the cost of lumber alone.

Will it pay to build now? That depends. In many cases it will pay better to build now than to wait on uncertainties.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SELLING SOIL FERTILITY TO OLD WORLD

From the very beginning America has been selling her soil fertility to the old world over a bargain counter; and the wise old world has not been slow to appreciate the bargain. Soil elements that will take fifty years to replace can be carelessly farmed out of the soil in ten years. Making money on new land is a comparatively easy task; but renewing old soil is a slow and costly process.

Certain crops exhaust the soil more rapidly than others. Certain products sold off the land carry away a large part of their sale value in the elements of fertility they contain. For example, a dollar's worth of butter or cheese contains but a few cents' worth of necessary soil elements, while a bushel of wheat at present prices contains 60 cents' worth. A ton of cottonseed meal carries away $46.70 in nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash, while in 1913 it sold for but $27. A ton of linseed cake selling at $31 carries away $34.47 worth of fertility. According to a writer in the Review of Reviews, even tobacco has been exported at a price less than the fertilizer value of the three essential salts it contains.

The effect of shipping out feed and foodstuffs at a price less than their value as fertilizers, together with other wasteful methods of farming, is seen in the steady decrease in crop per acre, especially in the corn, cotton and wheat fields. The average wheat yield of Minnesota between 1900 and 1910 was but thirteen bushels, while twelve bushels was estimated to be the limit of profit. Old England's average crop is a little more than thirty bushels. The English farmer is a student of soils and fertilizers.

Selling grain, hay and other stock feeds directly from the farm is the surest road toward soil impoverishment. No farm can long maintain its productivity that does not closely relate itself to domestic animals. To conserve the producing power of our soil, meat, dairy products and wool must be made a part of the farm's product. Feeding soil is as much a part of the science of agriculture as planting and cultivating.—Minneapolis Journal.

GERMANS BEGIN TO SEE THE LIGHT

That the German authorities seem to have regained a little common sense is evidenced by the Berlin police proclamations recently warning citizens to desist from demonstrations against foreign residents, asserting that these people are not to blame for acts of the Allied governments. Such wonderful forbearance argues a return to reason at last.

ANGLO-AMERICAN LABOR CODE

Sir Stephenson Kent, one of the big industrial leaders and employers in England, is in charge of the industrial demobilization work. During the war his conferences with American employers and labor groups were among the most helpful in bringing to light the size of the job we had in hand.

"No doubt labor policies in England and America must sooner or later follow the same broad lines," he said recently. "Interchange of views, experience and experiments should be of great interest and value to both countries."

"It may be said that industry tends toward internationalization and that the international relations of labor are only less close than those of capital. A demand is springing up in all countries—and not only on the side of labor—for an international code for industry; a flexible code, susceptible of local modifications, which would remove some of the local fears with which employers listen to the demands of labor. Employers in any one country are deterred from making such concessions by fear of foreign competition. This may or may not be a valid argument, but it would clearly be advantageous to all parties to reconstruct the foundations of industrial life in such a way as to restore the confidence which is now so often lacking among the three partners in the world's work—employers, employed and the state."

It is not for England to teach America. England and America are fellow learners in the school of world experience. We may exchange thoughts, ideas, suggestions and records to our mutual and lasting advantage, but one would hesitate a long time before assuming a didactic attitude on any of the subjects I have touched upon. Closer and more frequent consultation would, I think, be very desirable, and possibly we may in the future see conferences taking place periodically between the departments of labor of the United Kingdom and the United States.

"Nothing but good can come from exchange of ideas and experience, and I look forward to the day when such questions as hours of the working week will be a matter of international discussion governed by international demand. Security of employment and certainty of market should be our goal, and only by international discussions and agreements shall we be able to achieve our common aim."

PEACE TREATY WILL BE SIGNED

Attaches of the German peace plenipotentiaries show a glimmer of returning reason in their declaration that their envoys will sign the peace terms. "What else can we do?" one asked. "We are on the ground; your knees are on our stomachs." Quite aptly put. This men evidently sees the danger of refusal in the Allied threat to use the economic blockade on Germany if she refuses to sign. This would hit directly at the stomachs of the people by cutting off all imports of food. If, as one great general said, "an army travels on its stomach," likewise a people owe their very existence to full stomachs. In the logic of events, the German envoys will sign.

As a means of accumulating data for use in regulating rates for food products to consumers, Federal and State authorities are to cooperate. In many states county assessors are authorized and required to obtain the required information. With tabulated statements of quantities produced and cost of production and distribution furnished, it should not be difficult to fix upon a fair rate for food products to consumers, and to detect and penalize profiteering. Privateering was outlawed generations ago. Profiteering, in the same category of offenses against the peace and dignity of the people of the state, must have its turn for punishment next and now.—Fillmore Herald.

are too busy or lazy or indifferent to get to the house of God on time. And often they fail to attend at all, especially the midweek prayer service, thus losing a promised blessing. They are on time at the school, the club, the place of business, but rarely at the church service.

At the evening service the sermon topic was "The Herald of His Age," referring to John the Baptist, whose birth was the fulfillment of ages of prophecy. His life of self-sacrifice, his boldness in rebuking the sins of the leaders of his people and his final bold denunciation of King Herod, for his sin of adultery, were strikingly set forth. The fell purpose of the revengeful Herodias was depicted, she prostituting the charms of her own daughter in lascivious dances to bring about the death of the bold preacher. The speaker referred then to the dangers of the modern dance in lowering the spirit of divinity that hedges about the pure young girl and in its effect on the mind and thoughts of the young man. John was faithful to death in carrying out the purpose for which he was born and was an example to Christians of all ages.

RECOGNIZED A MAN

When one of the transports went over last spring the chaplain, finding a group of men sitting together on the deck with nothing to do, began to tell them stories. He did not say they were Bible stories. He just told them for their brilliant value as tales. And he told the story of Paul's shipwreck and those 14 days in a typhoon when he was making his famous voyage to Rome. When he had finished a man called out to him: "Who was that guy?" "The story teller replied that it was a man named Paul. The soldier went below and aroused his bunkie. "The chaplain was telling us a story up on deck about a fellow named Paul, and he was some man."

HAD A RIGHT TO KNOW

A transport carrying negro members of a labor battalion was pulling into a French port. One big darkey, leaning over the rail, watched the harbor scenes. Spying a Frenchman fishing in a little skiff, he shouted: "Hey, you French boy! Here I come 3,000 miles from Alabama to fight for you and I find you fishin'. Where do you get that stuff at?"

USE YOUR BRAINS

Garrett P. Serviss is one of the most comforting of writers. He says that a person's brains keep him young—or would do so if he exercised his brains—and no one will admit he hasn't any brains or that he doesn't exercise them.

"If your occupation consumes your bodily energies," he says, "and at the same time your brain cells get no exercise, your chances for long life are not very good. It will be found in cases of remarkable longevity that the subjects were mentally active to a noticeable degree, even when their occupations and their status of education did not demand what is called intellectual labor." Surely that is comforting.—Columbus Dispatch.

THAT WOULDN'T BE SO MUCH

"Milk in your coffee, this morning, sir?" asked the polite waiter in the big hotel.

ENTERTAINS FOOTHILL CLUB

their regular meeting last Friday afternoon in her beautiful home at 1107 North Louise Street. The rooms were charmingly decorated with sweet peas and other seasonable flowers. A delicious two-course luncheon was served by the genial hostess. The club decided to adopt a French orphan for the coming year.

W. C. T. U. BIRTHDAY PARTY

Last Friday was a gala day for the local Union, when about 50 members and friends gathered at the home of the president, Mrs. Ruby J.
Smart, to celebrate her birthday with a membership shower. It also being the close of the recent membership contest, forty-three new members were reported, making a total of fifty-four new members since last May.

The new members present were received and welcomed to the Union with a few well-chosen words by the president and by having a bow of white ribbon pinned on their breasts.

Four babies, Marjorie Wilkes, Jens
Herbert Mathiesen, Dorothy and Barbara King were presented by their respective mothers to become White Ribbon Recruits. This ceremony was made very impressive by prayer and the singing of "Precious Jewels."

Mrs. Walbridge, of Los Angeles, a daughter of the hostess, delighted all with a sweet song of "Heavenly Rest and Peace." The reading of an original poem by Mrs. Moser, and a violin solo by Miss Evangeline Quackenbush preceded the address of the afternoon.

The speaker was another daughter of the hostess, Mrs. Kara S. Root, who is soon to sail for Japan in the interest of World-Wide Prohibition.
Mrs. Root spoke very interestingly of her work here as State Secretary of the W. C. T. U. until the call came from the people of Japan for her to take charge of their National Campaign for prohibition.

A vocal solo by Mrs. Cotton was enjoyed. Then the officers and members formed in line, led by the Superintendent of Flower Mission, with a beautiful bouquet of Cecil Brunners.
All marched to the president's stand, presenting flowers, gifts and greetings to their beloved leader.

A large birthday cake, handsomely decorated in pink and white scroll work with: "Greetings to Our President," was brought in. Delicious fruit ade and home-made cake were served and all adjourned feeling they had spent a most delightful afternoon.

NOTICE

drive who have protest books out,

RALLY SOCIAL

The Senior and Intermediate C. E.
Societies of the Presbyterian Church of Glendale held a very interesting and enjoyable Rally for the Long Beach C. E. Convention June 28-July 2, last Friday evening in the church.
Several "boosters" from Los Angeles were present and Mr. Bunyan gave a most interesting talk.

A convention play was splendidly given, which, with music, a social good time and refreshments contributed to make this one of the many helpful and pleasant evenings spent by these societies.

BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Helen Campbell, of 135 S. Isabel Street, was hostess at a pretty little bridge party Saturday afternoon, which took place in a pretty floral setting of Mamam Cochet roses.
At the close of the play the prize was awarded to Mrs. Alex. T. Montgomery, and refreshments were served. The ladies entertained were Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., Mrs. C.
O. Pulliam, Mrs. A. A. MacIntyre,
Mrs. Maurice Bondeaux, Mrs. Alex. T.
Montgomery, Mrs. Andrew MacIn-tyre, Little Edith MacIntyre and Ga-

GOOD WORK

Mrs. R. P. Jodon, 224 South Louise street, who was in charge of a section of the Red Cross activities in Glendale, arranged a sewing contest between two groups of the women of the Central Christian Church, commencing March 20th. The contest has just closed with the creditable showing of 258 garments finished.

INTERMEDIATE GAME

The noon-day game today was between the Giants and Cubs. Vernon Paul pitched for the Giants and Harold Thompson for the Cubs. In the third inning Tommy Morgan made a home run for the Giants, and Bartell Monsello for the Cubs. Four innings were played and the score stood 20 to 3 in favor of Giants.

RED CROSS CHANGES

Officials of the Glendale Red Cross Chapter say there seems to be some misunderstanding in regard to the Red Cross and its work and to correct the misapprehension they wish the announcement to be made that the work-rooms for sewing and knitting in the local chapter will close the last of the month, but that the shop and salvage departments will be continued for the support of the home service work of the chapter, and loyal, patriotic citizens are asked to bear this in mind and save papers, bottles, metal and other junk for salvage which will be called for on telephone message. Also, donations of any articles of clothing, books, pictures,
magazines, fancy work, china, etc., which might find sale at the shop are urgently requested. Now is the housecleaning season and many belongings which can be spared are likely to come to light in every household. So remember the shop.

MAY FESTIVAL A SUCCESS

The following statement in regard to receipts from the May Festival, held Friday at the home of Mrs. Ella Richardson for the benefit of Parent-Teacher Associations of Glendale, has been furnished the Evening News by Mrs. John Robert White, Chairman of Finance of the P.-T. A. Federation, who planned and had general charge of the festival.

"The Federation cleared about $210.00 after all expenses had been paid. I was very much pleased with the spirit shown by the entire community, especially the merchants, who helped so generously. At the Federation meeting this afternoon all who assisted will be thanked in an official way. I personally wish to thank all who aided me for their valiant service. Half of these net receipts will go to the treasury of the Federation and the other 50 per cent.
will be distributed among the associations which make up the P.-T. A.
Federation.

"The baby show, in charge of Mrs.
Kille, consisted of two classes: 'A'
of babies up to nine months, wherein were entered May Starkey (4 mos.); John Philip Gibbon (9 mos.); Patricia Eckel (4 mos.); Louise Virginia Ratliff (7 mos.). The first prize in this class for girl went to

BROADWAY MOTHERS

The regular meeting of the Broadway P.-T. A. was held at the Broadway School at 3:30 p. m., May 14th.

The Flag Salute was given and the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung.

The following members were elected to office for next year: Mrs.
Kulp, president; Mrs. Horner, vice-president; Mrs. Godfrey, secretary; Mrs. Jepson, treasurer; Mrs. Houghton, historian.

Superintendent White gave an address on "The Need of Greater Remuneration for Teachers."

A petition to Governor Stephens was signed by the members of the Association requesting that he sign Bills 242, 243, 244, 245 and 267, so that the City of Glendale—so rich in children—might more adequately and more efficiently take care of the "charge it has to keep." The members of the association voted to write personal letters to the Governor relating to these bills. It is considered vital to the interests of the schools that the bills become laws.

A special committee of five was appointed to assist the Board of Trustees in securing more playground for our boys and girls. The committee included the following ladies: Mesdames Horner, Jepson, Houghton, Collins and Lemon.

A committee of three was appointed to consult the board on the results obtained by the above committee, viz:
Mrs. Ewins, Mrs. M. O. Ryan, Mrs.
Houghton.

A committee was appointed to assist the teachers on tag day, Saturday, May 24th, when the children will sell tags to raise funds for the fatherless children of France. The committee is Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Godfrey, Mrs. Fanset.

Words of appreciation were spoken by those who attended the District Convention. Mrs. Barton reported that this district had the largest membership.

The business concluded, Mrs. Burr gave an address of appreciation on
"The Reading Circle."

Mrs. Gibbons contributed three beautiful child songs: "Little Pa-poose," "Bird Song" and "Sweet Ma Honey."

LONDON AIR RAIDS KILLED 473 PEOPLE

(By United Press)
LONDON. (By Mail).—Final official reports issued by the London Fire Brigade show that 473 persons were killed outright and 1105 injured, many of whom died subsequently, during the 25 air-raids London suffered in the war. In all 857 bombs were dropped by the raiders, of which 372 were incendiary bombs.

The worst raid was June 13, 1917, a daylight raid, when 39 bombs were dropped, 108 persons killed, and 228
injured.

Between September 4 and October 1, 1917, London suffered six raids, three on successive nights, and five within eight days. Of London's 25 raids, the first six were Zeppelin visitations.

THE GERMANS WERE RIGHT

A few Yanks standing outside of a

officers were making a bit of noise and one of the English officers came

"You few Americans give me more trouble than the whole British army."

"Yes," answered one of the Yanks,
"that's what the Germans tell us."

(By Francis Lee Chauvan)

"The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God." Psalm 53.

To deny the Power of Good

That said, "Let there be light!"

Is to close the door of the soul

And say, "Let there be night!"

The door of the soul closed to God,
Is locked with the fool's key,
It denies its right to its light,
Is dark eternally."There 're tongues in trees," the poet says.

Pause. I hear the tree's voice.

It says: "I live my life in God.

And in that life rejoice."

I fear not in the lightning's flash,
Nor in the wind's wild rush.

They ne'er can touch my spirit's life.

Though they its semblance crush.

A peach has fallen at my side,—

"Tis God's gift," says the tree;

On the peach is an angel's blush,—

I take it gratefully.

The flowers look upon the sun.

The sun on the flowers;—

"Thou givest us God's light," they say.

"To gladden earth's dull hours.

The birds sip from our petals' folds

The nectar of their songs;

They sing their souls and ours to God.

To whom all life belongs."

Father of light! let no poniard

Of a doubt pierce my mind

And make it dark, without Thy guide

Its light in Thee to find.

Glendale, Cal.

MONROVIA'S BIRTHDAY

As usual Monrovia celebrated May

17th, its natal day, with the suspension of all business except festivity.

The opening event of the day was a parade of decorated automobiles and floats, of marching soldiers and High School cadets. An outstanding feature was the float representing Monrovia's birthday cake, a three-tiered, circular structure, snowy white, and about twelve feet across set with High School girls sheathed in pink crepe paper cylinders to represent candles, on their heads little black caps centered with yellow streamers to simulate a flame. The base of the cake was wreathed with flowers and greenery, and it created a sensation. A High School girl was credited with the bright idea.

Another parade specialty was three papier mache figures of colossal proportions, excellent portraits of the ex-Kaiser, the Crown Prince and Von

Hindenburg, led in chains by soldiers. These figures were hollow cylinders carried by boys who made them bow to their captors and perform other popular stunts. Their manufacture was credited to Paul

Rockwood, a returned service man who, though not able to get across, did his bit in an American camp. He was graduated from Monrovia High in 1914 and was one of the most talented pupils in its art department.

Arrangements had been made to entertain, free of cost, all local soldiers at a municipal picnic held in the city's mountain park in Sawpit

Canyon. About 125 returned service men were thus entertained and had a jolly picnic with their townsmen and townswomen. A fine after-dinner speech was made by Major Coulston, of Pasadena, who insisted that the American people do not fully appreciate what our soldiers accomplished

over seas. "Because the casualties were light as compared with those suffered by France and England, it is assumed that their part may have been exaggerated," he said, "but the records of the first battle tell the story, for in that offensive the prisoners taken by our men averaged 21

per capita."

A fine auto show in which all the local dealers united provided one of the attractions of the day. In the afternoon there was a band concert

in the City Park on Myrtle Avenue,

a baseball game and in the evening

a street dance opposite the park.

ORIENTAL MONROEISMTOKYO, April 20. (By Mail to United Press).—Oriental "Monroe-ism" should be granted to Japan and Asia, as the result of the recent vic-tory of the Americans at the peace conference, according to Japanesenewspapers. The newspapers are still ranking under the defeat of the Japanese equality measure.

The Osaka Asahi declares that
"aside from the question of morality, this is a great victory for America."The newspaper says that Japan should demand the conformation of "Oriental Monroeism, the league of nations having lost its fundamental significance by reason of the American amendment."

The Osaka Mainichi bitterly says:
"Monroeism is a cheap wine concoct-ed by the Americans for themselves.
They consume it to intoxicate and deceive themselves, but they should not force it on others." The news-paper, however, advocates Oriental Monroeism as retaliation.EAGLE ROCK SANITARY DAIRYCan supply a few more customers

since or is yet to be born will see Jesus, and seeing Him, every voice shall confess that He is Lord, and that confession will be to the glory of God the Father. Angels of heaven will bow the knee, every human being now living will bow down, and those now sleeping in their dusty beds who are to be resurrected, will also kneel before the great King."But there are two ways to see Jesus. We may see Him with desire; we may want to see Him, or we may see Him with terror. We may see Him with holy joy and inexpressible love, or be among those described in Revelation 6:15, 16, who call upon rocks and mountains to hide them from His gaze."Strong men today may brush Christianity aside with the excuse that it is for women and children, but there will be no excuse in that day.
Though millions stand in the Creator's presence like a great field of grain, yet he will deal with each one personally, individually. Every man, woman and child will stand alone in that day. Children who have not been saved, in that day will stand all alone. Fathers and mothers cannot help them then. And you whose heads are crowned and honored with white, you whose hair age is tinting
with frost, when God deals with you,
He will deal with you alone. He will not call your children to answer for you, or to excuse your sins, nor will He call your wife or husband to explain why you did such and such things."Dear friends, we must so order our lives that our acknowledgment of Christ as King may be made inside the walls of the city of God, that we be not among the great trembling throng without."TO CONSIDER STRIKE

(United Press)

JUNEAU, Alaska, May 19. — The Alaskan legislature devoted considerable attention during its recent session to the promotion of education.
It passed two important measures along that line.One is the "normal high school act" which provides that school boards directing accredited high schools are authorized to establish teachers' training courses. Such courses are to be of two years' duration, beginning with the fourth year of high school training and extending

The object of the act is to encourage young women of Alaska to become teachers.K. P.'S IN FRESNO
